For their debut collection of custom architectural hardware, Peter Pennoyer Architects has partnered with Lowe Hardware, a Maine-based company known for its beautifully crafted marine hardware which can be found on Hinckley Yachts.

The collection features the signature timeless elegance found in Peter Pennoyer Architects' projects around the world and carries the distinguished quality and artistry of all Lowe Hardware in three distinct lines—the Country Suite, City Suite, and Cubist Suite.

Each line is available in a variety of finishes and includes options for customization.

— COUNTRY SUITE —

Designed for the country house Peter built with his wife, interior decorator Katie Ridder, the Country Suite features refined, traditional proportions with a fresh twist. The knob has a broad elliptical shape, accentuated by a smaller escutcheon, and the lever is faceted and tapers to a gentle arc so that both fit comfortably in the hand. They are accented with a star detail, which can be customized for an extra charge. Peter Pennoyer's personal collection of hardware is finished in copper, but the entire Country Suite is available in a variety of finishes.

— CITY SUITE —

The City Suite reflects the elegant and spare classicism of the best of New York residential architecture of the 1920s. With traditional details distilled to their essence, this collection offers a contemporary take on timeless hardware models for some of the most storied apartment houses in Gotham.

— CUBIST SUITE —

The Cubist Suite displays a modernist approach to geometry. While completely comfortable to the hand and functionally impeccable, these pieces display the faceted and crystalline shapes that were so popular in Europe at the dawn of modernist movements.
