Peter Pennoyer

New York architect Peter Pennoyer has teamed with Maine-based Lowe Hardware—famed for the metalwork on Hinckley yachts—to launch a collection of hardware in three styles: Country (below), City, and Cubist, all in a variety of finishes. (lowe-hardware.com)

Elyse Graham

Inspired by the concept of revealing what is hidden yet remains ever-present, Los Angeles artist Elyse Graham has created the Black Magic collection, a series of one-of-a-kind resin vessels. Graham crafts the vessels by pouring resin into a mold, layer by layer, building the piece from the outside in. Once a piece has reached a desired thickness, it is carved, sanded, and hand-polished to reveal layers of color and pattern.

KETTLEWELL COLLECTION

Globe-trotter Allison Kettlewell drew inspiration for her first textile collection from items gathered through years of travel. The experienced designer—she has two decades in the textile industry—struck out on her own this year with an offering of seven patterns in multiple colorways. Each stitch and stamp in the artisanal line is done by hand. (kettlewellcollection.com) —Anna Logan

The collection includes the “Faroe” and “Pampe” vases. (elysegraham.com)
